ANTI-JAPANESE LAW SCORED BY VISCOUNT KATO

SEES FRIENDSHIP AT END

"Nippon Can Never Overlook Such an Act," Declares Leading Official.

Tokio—Representative Japanese express the opinion that there is no hope of a permanent solution of the California problem until after the Presidential election in the United States. Through the medium of the press, however, they continue to put forward strong opposition to the proposed referendum in California, designed to extend the present law excluding Japanese from land ownership in California so as to forbid Japanese from holding lands by lease, and also to prevent Japanese holding land through ownership of alleged "dummy" corporations.

Among the writers is Viscount Takaki, former Foreign Minister, who says: That America, which constantly is advocating the cause of righteousness and humanity, should dare, without giving proper reasons, to deprive Japanese of the fruits of many years of painstaking labor, is an act we can never overlook. That America of all countries should resort to an act so cruel and inhuman is really inexplicable.

REFUGEES ARE DRIVEN FROM BLAZING HOMES

MacSwiney in Extreme Pain; Relatives Advised Not to Speak to Him.

Dublin—Tuesday night the mills of Baibriggan, the power loom weaving center of South Ireland, were a smoking waste, most of the residences and shops are in ashes, two men have been murdered in cold blood by the British police, while long lines of refugees are streaming over the countryside in neighboring towns in a search for shelter.

The trouble began Monday evening with the killing of Inspector Burke of the British police in Ireland as he was leaving a restaurant in Baibriggan. His brother and other policemen were with him, and his brother is in a serious condition as a result of another bullet. The shots were fired from a crowd which had gathered when the Burkes became involved in a dispute in the restaurant.

A bulletin issued at 10 o'clock Tuesday night says:

"The doctor, after visiting the Lord Mayor, said he was in a very weak condition and advised his relatives not to speak to him or give him the slightest exertion."

When asked the direct question whether MacSwiney was being fed, a Home official said this morning:

"Not that we know of; but you must remember his relatives have free access to him."

CAMPBELL'S RUGBY STAR WRITES OF VISIT IN HOLLAND

C. Erwin Righter, who went to Belgium Olympic games with the All-Star American rugby team, writes of his visit to Holland. He is now on his way home somewhere on the Atlantic. Amsterdam, August 28.

Dear Folks:

Two other members of the rugby team and myself have come over into Holland for the week-end. This afternoon we stopped at The Hague and looked over the Houses of Parliament and the Peace Palace. I was very much interested in the Bindenhof, which is a group of buildings which contain the ministerial offices of the government and in which were held some of the meetings of the Peace Conference. We also visited the Huis ten Bosch, better known as the "House in the Wood." I wrote a thesis of 12,000 words last winter on the Peace Conference so I was glad to see the Peace Palace, for I didn't dream last winter that I would ever be here to see it. We also went through the Genengpoort, an ancient prison where political prisoners were tortured and later executed just outside the prison in an open square. All kinds of implements of torture were on exhibition from the Spanish Inquisition showing that they "treated 'em rough" in the days of old. Cornelius DeWitt, a famous Hollander, was imprisoned in this prison and killed in the square outside, where his statue is. All of this is recorded on Eastman film.

The Hague is a very beautiful city after Antwerp and Brussels, with wide streets that look as if they had been cleaned once in a while. I bought the present stamp issue of Holland at the postoffice, at least those that didn't cost too much. However, I didn't go in very heavy for the exchange rate is just about normal and prices here are high compared with Belgium. We three are paying 13F50 for a room one night, and florins are worth 40 cents (U. S. A.) apiece. So that makes the accommodations pretty high. Breakfast comes with the room. However, this is not the best hotel in town by any means. Holland made lots of money out of the war by selling materials and food to Germany, so they are in fine shape compared with the belligerent countries.

Travelers have told us that is the reason that it is difficult to travel here. We had some trouble getting our passports vised and tomorrow we have to report to the police headquarters and get an identification card with picture, etc., on it, somewhat after the Russian style. This is something left over from the war, when as a neutral country Holland examined the people who came in rather closely.

We got a glimpse of the big dyke which keeps out the Zuyder Zee. All the country we passed through would be flooded were it not for the dykes. Canals run in every direction, and it is not uncommon to see a sailboat seemingly sailing across a field, due to the fact that the grass grows higher along the canals and shuts the water off from view, only leaving the sail sticking up. I wish some of this surplus water was stored in a place where it could be gotten at in the Santa Clara valley. Everything is green, of course, with no dust, quite a contrast to California at this time of year.

Tomorrow we intend to take a steamer trip to the Island of Marken and through the canals of Holland. This trip comes pretty high but it will be a long time before I come this way again probably. Reg Caughey, Charlie Paddock and Bartlett of U. of Oregon took a trip to Italy and Switzerland last week, intending to end up in Paris for a track meet tomorrow.

We are scheduled to play France football on September 5, all of which you will probably know before this letter reaches you. Then we are going to play in Paris, Bordeaux, and possibly one or two other games in Southern France. I think it will be possible to go from there into Switzerland for a day or two and possibly to Italy and Monte Carlo.

We have met travelers on the trains who speak German and another fellow and I get the desired information without much trouble.

Affectionately, Erwin.

J. C. Gordon, commercial photographer of San Jose, was in Campbell yesterday making a panoramic movie film of the G. E. Hyde plant and operations. Later on this film will be shown at the Orchard City Theater. It will be interesting to see a home scene on the screen.

Powdered Skim Milk Old Hickory Molasses Buns, Rolls, Snails and Cakes

The new product, Powdered Skim Milk is excellent and inexpensive for cocoa or chocolate, as some Campbell housewives have discovered. Then, too, others have found that this milk-powder sifted into one's pancake flour, adds much food value and enhances the flavor.

A can of Powdered Skim Milk, representing five liquid quarts reduced, is 40c.

A new barrel of that good Old Hickory Molasses has just been tapped. The jobber says it's worth a great deal more money than he asked for it, being old stock. This is genuine New Orleans molasses. It's not for the table, but for cooking. We're giving you the benefit of the old price. 25c a quart, while it lasts.

When you need something special in Buns, Snails, or Cakes, we'll have to order them a day ahead. The baker likes to know, so he can come prepared. Our daily stock, however, will satisfy most requirements. Those big snails, at 2 for 15c; those sandwich buns, Parker House rolls and Vienna rolls at 30c a dozen, all go very fast because so very good.

A SQUARE DEAL for the Round Dollar

Mrs. R. C. Muller of San Jose is the guest of Mrs. Robert Hamilton this week while Mr. Hamilton, Bert Campbell and James Austin Hamilton are in Trinity county on their annual deer hunt.

The Pundita Reading Circle will hold the first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. C. H. Davidson, Wednesday afternoon, September 29, at 2:30 o'clock. It will be a business meeting and a full attendance is desired.

Owing to the change in date of opening the Campbell high school, there was some misunderstanding in regard to registration. Principal D. H. Cramer desires that all new students who have not registered should do so Saturday afternoon, September 25th.

Thos. Lumb last week moved his household belongings into the E. E. Phelps house on Sunnyside which he recently purchased. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps have taken temporary quarters at the Jas. Burns home. Later on they will visit their daughter at Quincy.

Miss Bozena Kalas, who expected to leave this month for New York, has postponed her departure a month as she received notice that the instructor whose work she wished to take was away and she would be at his studio until that time, so she will leave about October 26.

Mrs. Helen Greenley and her mother Mrs. Hoag, expect to sail for their home in the Hawaiian Islands on October 2nd. Last Sunday Mr. Pearle Payne took them to Santa Rosa for the day. While very fond of this valley, Mrs. Greenley favors the Islands, but they are "home" now.

A. A. Purmort has sold his ranch of 45 acres on Sunnyside avenue to Mike Messina, who comes from Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Purmort will leave the 15th of next month for a visit with relatives in Minnesota, and upon their return will reside in Campbell, as they like the community too well to make a change.

Miss Mary Conway, who spent a year here with her sister, Mrs. Ralston Alison, will return the early part of October. The Bean Spray Co., with whom she was employed part of the time, have made her a very good offer, which with the added attractions of Santa Clara valley climate are responsible for her return.

Miss Clara Hansen of San Jose will take the piano pupils of Mrs. Emily P. Gard during her absence east. She will meet her pupils at the home of Mrs. Gard where she will give the lessons. Miss Hansen is also a graduate of the Wooster School of Music of San Jose and will continue the same methods as Mrs. Gard.

READ SCHOOL ATTENDANCE LAW

Campbell-San Tomas Union grammar school and Campbell Union high school open next Monday and every child of school age must attend, according to the compulsory school law.

In order that this point may be quite clear, the following clauses of the law are quoted:

"Anyone employing a child under 16, after the opening of the school where that child resides, is guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to a fine of from $50 to $200.

"Any parent who delays entering a child from any cause other than serious illness, is also subject to prosecution and a fine of from $10 to $25."

The trustees have endeavored to co-operate with employers and parents by arranging the opening date of school when the harvest work will be over.

The law has been given wide publicity so that no one ought to be ignorant, which, by the way, is no excuse. It is the duty of the school attendance officer to enforce the law immediately upon the opening of school.

If there is any family in your neighborhood that violates the law inform Miss Woodhead, county attendance officer, at the county superintendent's office, or the principal of the school.

RIDES EVERY DAY—Oh, BOY!

M. E. Purmort will inaugurate the grammar school bus line on Monday morning from the San Tomas section with the classiest car of the kind so far seen here. The school has purchased an Oldsmobile truck with pneumatic tires, and the body is one made by the Eagle Body Works. It is all enclosed with the door in front near the driver.

The numerous advantages of transportation need only to be mentioned to the average parent to be fully appreciated.

First—Tardiness is done away with, because the driver keeps a regular time schedule.

Second—There can be no quarreling, no obscene language or immoral conduct, and no injuries from machines. Several children have been killed on the highways of this county going to or from school. Mothers never figure cost when these things are at stake, and it is right that they should not.

Third—Children get to school dry and not fatigued from a long walk. They do not sit in damp clothes, with wet feet, and they are far less likely to pay the consequences of exposure, which are colds, grippe, earache, and often absence from school. The children will be nice and dry on rainy days this winter.

All of the town youngsters will try to get their parents to move into the San Tomas district so they can ride to school in the new bus.

AWAY TO WED

Ben Rodeck left Thursday afternoon for Carrollton, Mo., where on Wednesday, September 29th, he will be united in marriage with Miss Harriette Conway. Miss Conway will be remembered by Campbell friends, as she visited her sister, Mrs. Ralston Alison, a few years ago. The young people will reside in Campbell, occupying the house on Rineon avenue which Mr. and Mrs. Snow will vacate.

Miss Anna Hagelin arrived Saturday evening from her summer's visit in the east.

Leonard Smith went to Lucia today to bring his sisters Marion and Ada home to enter school Monday.

Miss Ruth Lloyd will teach piano, violin and theory at Professor Halamek's studio beginning next week, the day to be arranged. Phone S. J. 949.

George Whitney has bought the S. G. Rodeck lot on Campbell avenue, east of A. P. Merrill's, where he will erect a home, probably next season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Waddell of Los Angeles, who were house guests at the Robert Hamilton home for two weeks, went home Monday to pack up their goods to come here to live. Mr. Waddell has purchased an acre of the New-hall tract, next the May Beardsley home on Johnson avenue, and will soon be living in our midst. Mr. Waddell has completed his garage and will live in it while building his new home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Candee, mother of F. G. Candee and Mrs. R. Y. Maxon of Campbell, passed away Thursday at the home of her daughter, Miss Mary Candee, in San Jose. Funeral services were held Saturday and the body laid to rest in Oak Hill. Mrs. Candee had almost reached her 78th year and so passed the allotted three score years and ten.

LOST—On Campbell ave., man's army slip-on sweater. Finder please leave at Campbell Press office.

Brakes should be kept evenly adjusted and not too tight. When too tight they grab, which tears the tread off the tire and causes a thin spot.

AMERICAN RED CROSS TO GIVE RURAL HELP

Program for Public Health and Community Welfare Is Now
Well Under Way.

Rural communities and towns of less than 8,000 population benefit in a very large part by the public health and community welfare work of the American Red Cross. Almost all of the 3,000 Red Cross chapters have some rural sections in their territory. Therefore the Red Cross Rural Service.

Briefly, the purpose of Rural Service is to assist people to get out of life more health, wealth and happiness. In this purpose public health instruction and general educational progress of both children and adults play a big part.

Recreation is found to be one of the biggest needs in rural life. There is lack of sufficient play-life for the children and social life for the adults. Picnics, pageants, debating clubs, baseball leagues, community singing and other social events which bring the people of surrounding communities together have been organized and carried on under the guidance of Red Cross rural workers to great advantage. In many instances solving recreational problems and getting people together proves to be the awakening of the community to other conditions which may be improved by united action.

As a result of community organization, townships in which there had been neither plans nor interest in community progress have been organized to work together with the unified purpose of bringing their community up to the most enlightened standards. Lecture and musical entertainment courses have been started as a result of community meetings, as well as circulating libraries, Red Cross schools of instruction in Home Nursing, Care of the Sick and First Aid. In the larger towns the need for restrooms and public comfort stations is being met. Playgrounds for the children have been established and recreational activities worked out for the year.

In order that there may be concerted effort in carrying on the programs of the various welfare agencies in the rural districts, Red Cross Rural Service helps the organizations already on the ground. The main object of the service is to lend a hand everywhere and take the lead only where necessary.

JUNIOR RED CROSS ACTIVE IN EUROPE

Garden seeds for Polish orphans, milk for anaemic Greek babies, carpenters' tools for Czech-Slovakian cripples—these are only a few of the gifts that young Americans are sending to the war-crushed children of the Old World.

Through the Junior Red Cross the boys and girls of the United States are giving a fresh start in life to little war orphans scattered all over Europe. They have set up orphans' homes in France, school colonies in Belgium and Montenegro, and day schools in Albania.

They are sending dozens of young Syrians, Montenegrins, and Albanians to American colleges in Constantinople and Beirut, and maintaining more than a hundred orphans of French soldiers at colleges and trade schools. In orphanages and farm schools up and down the peninsula of Italy there are nearly 500 wards of American Juniors.

Last winter a thousand French children from the inadequate shelters of the devastated regions were sent by the Junior Red Cross to spend the cold months in warmer parts of France. At the same time five thousand little Belgians were having a hot lunch every day at Junior Red Cross school canteens.

American school children have already raised something like a million dollars for these enterprises, and they are still hard at work.

In China, through campaigns of education, the Junior Red Cross is helping to combat widely prevalent blindness and cholera.

RED CROSS RELIEF IN CENTRAL EUROPE

But for timely assistance of the American Red Cross during the last year, a large proportion of the 20,000,000 population of the Balkan States might have starved or perished from disease or exposure. Six million dollars worth of food, clothing and medical supplies have been sent to the Balkans—Roumania, Bulgaria, Albania, Montenegro, Serbia, Bosnia and Greece—since the beginning of Red Cross relief operations in Central Europe, while millions of dollars worth of food alone has been sent to the needy in these states.

The money expended by the Red Cross in this stricken portion of Europe has been used to set up hospitals, orphanages, dispensaries, mobile medical units and to help in the general reconstruction of devastated areas. American tractors and other farming implements have been sent to the agricultural regions where aid has been given in plowing the land.

By the last of this year probably all American Red Cross agencies administering relief in Central Europe will have withdrawn. By that time, it is believed, the people will have reached a normal state of living and will be able through their own agencies which the Red Cross has helped set up to provide for themselves.

POULTRY ENCOURAGE PULLETS TO LAY

Avoid Any Interruption of Regular Habits or Radical Change in Fowls' Diet.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The growing pullet is a creature of habit, thoroughly addicted to regularity and vigorously opposed to disturbance and unusual commotion. It is essential for the good of the flock in its entirety that the pullets should grow and improve like clockwork, from the time of hatching to maturity. Laying is often retarded by seemingly trivial disturbances, such as moving the fowl from place to place and changing the makeup of the ration.

In order to insure early eggs see to it that the growth of the pullets is not retarded in any manner whatever. Almost without exception the pullet whose growth from hatching to maturity has been regular, not subject to checks and interruptions, is an early layer. In support of the statement that checked growth results in retarded laying, comes the fact that May-hatched pullets often lay earlier than others which were hatched in April but retarded in the early stages of their growth by unfavorable weather. Retardation by weather conditions, however, is only one of many factors which may stunt the normal growth of a pullet and defer her entrance to the laying class.

As a rule, egg production begins at or before the cessation of the pullet's physical growth and development of the reproductive organs. Generally, influences which hinder growth also operate to delay egg production for several months. Any disturbance affecting the habits, quarters or comfort of the pullet at any stage of her life may retard laying. Shifting the birds from place to place and abrupt changes in the diet often disturb the fowl enough to retard laying. In fact, poultry fanciers who desire to keep pullets in condition for exhibition often use this means of keeping them from laying. On the average, pullets about to begin laying are more sensitive to disturbances than at any other stage of their growth, and therefore require greater care in handling, but disturbances retarding the growth even of small chicks are likely to postpone the beginning of egg production.

A Flock of Well-Developed Pullets Ready to Begin Laying.

It is imperative that every poultry keeper exercise the maximum of caution from the time the chicks are hatched until the pullets attain maturity, so that the fowl will make regular growth and not be subjected to any factors which will stunt or divert the proper development of the birds. The alphabet of proper management of the pullets emphasizes such factors as correct nourishment, constitution, exercise, and cleanliness. Given the proper care and surroundings, the early-hatched chick will develop into a profitable, early and persistent producer of eggs. This is the goal toward which every poultryman should work.

Young chicks need warmth when brooded by hens they remain under mothers nearly all the time for three days.

YOUNG CHICKS NEED WARMTH

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The first requirement of young chicks is warmth—a temperature comfortable for them. Chicks hatch in a temperature of 102 degrees to 105 degrees F. When brooded by hens they remain under the mothers nearly all the time for two or three days. Chicks shipped in small boxes are kept warm by the heat of their bodies so long as the boxes are not exposed to near-freezing temperatures, but this natural heat is not sufficient when they are given more than 100.

120,000 STAND IN BREAD LINE

More Than 1,000,000 Face
Death Is Message Brought by Miss Dakesian.

Imagine a bread line of 120,000 famished people waiting for twenty-four hours a day for the dole of food that is the sole barrier between them and death from starvation. That is the situation in Alexandropol, a city in Russian Armenia, according to Miss Hermine Dakesian, a pretty Armenian girl, one of the survivors of four years of the horrors of Turkish massacres and deportations. Saved by an American woman, she has come to this country and entered Oberlin College.

With her came fourteen other Armenian girls in charge of Miss Adelaide S. Dwight, a Near East Relief worker, who has been instrumental in helping to save hundreds of thousands of their people from death by starvation. Miss Dwight, who is not given to exaggeration and has seen conditions at first hand, says more than a million people are facing death by starvation in Armenia and will perish unless America aids.

Herself an eyewitness to the slaughter of hundreds of helpless women and children by the Turks and a victim of the deportations, Miss Dakesian, an unusually pretty girl, says there is untold suffering in Armenia and Syria. She praises the efforts of the Near East Relief, formerly the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, to save as many of these people as possible. At Erivan, the capital of the Armenian republic, one hot meal is given out daily, and by this relief alone the city's death rate has been cut from a thousand daily to an average of twenty. At Alexandropol, where the refugees from Turkish Armenia were driven by thousands, the situation is appalling, Miss Dakesian says. It is to avert these wholesale deaths that Near East Relief is making a nation-wide appeal for funds.

Only one-third as many women as men commit suicide, according to a survey of California vital statistics made by L. E. Ross, statistician of the State Board of Health.

Caustic Words.
"Is the jury still out?"
"Yes," said the sarcastic lawyer for the defense. "And I'm not surprised."
"No?"
"When I looked in the faces of those jurors I could see there was 'nobody home.'"

SETTING THINGS RIGHT.

"I am told that you referred to me as an ogre."

"The idea!"
"Don't try to evade the issue, madam. Did you or did you not call me an ogre?"

"Certainly not. I wouldn't be so unkind. I merely said your face threw my little Christopher into convulsions."

MODEST AVOWAL.

"Is this the office of the Toadville Clarion?"
"Yes, sir," answered the rubicund old gentleman who was lounging in the doorway with a cornob pipe stuck in his mouth.
"And is it the leading paper here?"
"Sir," replied the old gentleman, with an impressive air, "I feel that it is a duty I owe myself and my family, to tell of Toadville. Furthermore, ahem—there is no other paper here."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

No Sense of Humor.

"Mrs. Jagsby."
"Well, Mr. Jagsby?"
"When I came home last night—er—we'll say at a late hour, did I retire in good order?"
"In fairly good order, Mr. Jagsby, but I once saw a comedian on the stage try to catch his bed as it came round to him and I did not think his performance at all funny."

UGLY CHARGE.

"I understand Mrs. Twobble and Mrs. Gadsbur have had a falling out."

"Alas, yes."

"Is it serious?"

"I fear so. Mrs. Twobble makes the charge that when Mrs. Gadsbur borrowed a quarter of a pound of butter she returned an inferior brand."

The Spendthrift.

You have to reap as you have sowed, And should you go the pace, You'll surely find the same old road Leads to the same old place.

Unfeeling Father.

"Have the Blitherbys named their new twins yet?"

"Yes, but they were not given the names applied to them by Mr. Blitherbys when they first arrived."

"What did he call the precious pair?"

"'Trouble,' and 'More of It.'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Receptacle for Hairpins.

Mrs. Styles—This paper says that in front of a large London building there was recently found a pigeon's nest made of hairpins. Where do you suppose the pigeons found the hairpins? Mr. Styles—Oh, I suppose a lot of women in the vicinity couldn't keep their mouths shut.
